Great Flood Damage.

A Cloud Burst and Heavy Rain Fall

CAUSES GREAT DESTRUCTION.

A Number of Bridges Swept Away and Water Seriously Interfere With Rail Travel—A Dam Breaks and Cuts Across the Brandywine River.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 18.—A cloud burst in upper New Castle county, and lower Chester county, Pa., yesterday night, and heavy rains yesterday afternoon have caused great damage. Three bridges on the Wilmington and Northern railroad above Chester, Pa., are all, or nearly all, destroyed, and more are expected to follow. No trains have been able to reach Reading, Pa., from this city, and none have arrived here. Several extensive washouts have also been made, and these localities will have to be trekked before trains can be run.

On the Lumberville branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, near Brandywine Springs, a big washout made it necessary to transfer passengers. The heavy rains will increase the damage already done to crops in this section. The Wilmington and Northern railroad company reports the storm the cost damaging that it has ever experienced. Men are working in an endeavor to get the road in order for traffic.

A Dam Gives Way.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 18.—The part of the large dam belonging to the Emette Ice company, of Wilmington, Del., located at Hibernia, this county, burst yesterday morning and a tremendous amount of water rushed down the Brandywine, overflowing the banks and sweeping everything before it. The log bridge which crosses the Brandywine just below the dam was swept away and several frame buildings were carried down to Coatesville. Several of the streets of Coatesville are four feet under water. The people living along the stream were warned by the sound of the rushing waters and escaped to the hills, so far as heard from no lives have been lost. The flood had made the creek impassable. In places the meadows are covered to the depth of eight and ten feet. The break was caused by a heavy fall of rain.

At McKeesport, Pennsylvania.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Sept. 18.—The heaviest rain fall in years was experienced at this place yesterday. Streets were turned into rivers. Cellars and doors of many public and private buildings were flooded. Two houses were overturned, while a number in process of erection were so badly damaged, it is believed, they will have to be reconstructed from the foundation up. Several of the streets are impassable. The tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio, Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston, and Baltimore and Ohio railroads were washed out, in several places obstructed by heavy boulders. So far as learned no lives were lost.

One Flood Follows Another.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Sept. 18.—This city was visited by another flood yesterday evening. Between 6 and 7 o'clock the water in Green brook rose four feet, carrying away the bridge on Somerset street, which had been weakened by the flood of a few weeks ago. Cedar brook has overflowed its banks, and residents on Tenth street are greatly alarmed.

Although the Feltville dam is pronounced safe, timid people fear that it may break, and great uneasiness exists. Life ropes have been placed across Somerset street.

A Building Blown Down.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—The upper story of a new two-story brick building at 105 Park avenue, blew down yesterday afternoon, and the four men working on the walls were thrown to the ground and buried under bricks and mortar. Two of them, John Pobell and John Kohl, were seriously, perhaps fatally, injured. The building stands out on the open prairie where it is exposed to the full force of the winds. The strong west wind toppled over the wall on the west side, which had been left unsupported, and the bricks falling against the east wall knocked it over.

Freight Handlers' Strike.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The strike of the New York Central freightmen for extra pay for Sunday work, is still on. Freight Agent Clark says he will not grant the demands, and intends to pay off and discharge the strikers this afternoon. Track hands are doing the work now, but considerable freight has been delayed. The strikers are non-unionists.

A Collision on Water.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Sept. 18.—The schooner J. A. Parsons, from Bangor, for Bridgeport, Conn., collided yesterday with the schooner Zulette Kenyon, off Cross Rip lightship, and sunk her. Capt. Ames, his wife, and the crew of the Kenyon were rescued by the schooner Mary V. Wellington and brought to Cottage City. The Kenyon is a total loss.

Arrival of a Ship-Wrecked Crew.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 18.—The crew of the Norwegian bark Eliza Lines has been landed at Port Maitland by the brig Edith Mary. The Eliza Lines, which left Pensacola for Buenos Ayres on Aug. 8, encountered a terrible storm on Sept. 9. She soon began to leak and all hands on board abandoned her on the 11th, being rescued by the Edith Mary.

SECRET MEETINGS.

Young Men Must Be of Age Before They Can Become Odd Fellows.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 18.—The Sovereign Grand Lodge met at 9:30 o'clock and remained in secret session until 2:30 yesterday afternoon. The important business transacted was the discussion and action on the proposed constitutional amendment providing that young men 18 years of age shall be eligible to membership in the order of Odd Fellows. The amendment was lost by a large majority.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Daughters of Rebekah went into National convention, which was called to order by Past Grand Sir Nicholson who addressed the assemblage and introduced Mrs. Lizzie Phillips, of Cincinnati, O., president of the Ohio state organization of the Daughters of Rebekah, who delivered the address of welcome to the delegates.

No Growers and Manufacturers.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—A largely attended conference of wool growers and woolen goods manufacturers from different parts of the country opened here this morning. Its object is to agree upon a satisfactory schedule of duties upon imported wool and woolens to be recommended to congress in connection with the proposed tariff revision. The indications are that a still higher rate will be demanded on the ground that the market is glutted with the cheaper product of English looms. There are a number of home manufacturers, however, that are catering to the demand for a cheaper grade of woolen goods and those will work hard to lower the protective tariff on imported material.

Great Loss of Freight.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The steamer Vertumnus, with fruit, from Jamaica for this city went ashore last night on Long Beach. All on board were saved. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon and their two children, passengers on the vessel, were being taken off in a boat, when it capsized in the surf, but they were rescued by summer boarders at the beach, who plunged in and brought them ashore. Mrs. Henry Chapman, of Brooklyn, distinguished herself by saving a 3-year-old child in this way. The vessel will probably be a total loss.

Narrowly escaped Lynching.

SPARTA, Ill., Sept. 18.—John McCullough, who shot and killed Constable Crossen last Thursday, narrowly escaped lynching Monday night. The lynching party arranged and made preparations to attack the jail, when the sheriff was informed of what was taking place. He secretly took McCullough out of a rear door and boarded the train for Chester. The lynchers heard of the escape just as the Chester train pulled out and rushed to the depot, but were too late. McCullough will be kept in Chester until his trial takes place.

Floating in the Reservoir.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 18.—Early Monday morning the dead body of a white man was found floating in the reservoir of the Sloss furnace. It was that of a very large man, fairly well dressed, but was so badly decomposed that recognition was impossible. The back of his head had been crushed in evidently by a violent blow with some blunt instrument. The theory is that the stranger was murdered elsewhere some days previous and the body taken Sunday night and thrown where found.

More Race Troubles Faced.

MONROVIA, Ala., Sept. 18.—Considerable excitement prevails at Calera, sixty miles north of this place, over a threatened collision of races. The trouble grows out of the discovery of an incendiary letter written by a negro, which revealed a plot against the whites, and urges the negroes to insurrection. A villainous white man who is at the bottom of the trouble is being sought for, and if caught will be hung. The marshal of Calera has wired here for three dozen Winchester rifles.

Grand Prize to an American Astronomer.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 18.—Information was Monday received that a grand prize and a gold medal have been awarded at the Paris exposition to Professor Rowland, of the Johns Hopkins university, for his photographic map of the solar spectrum, and his concave gratings. This is in addition to the grand prize and the medal awarded to the Johns Hopkins university for its publication.

Colored People Asking Recognition.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—About fifty colored men met in the Meimonon yesterday pursuant to a call inviting a conference of leading colored men of the state to assist in the organization of a movement to secure from the political party of their affiliation a fair share of its responsibilities, opportunities and honors.

Shot the Captain of the Watch.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 18.—Andy Mack, the colored "captain of the watch" on the steamer City of Monroe, was shot and killed Sunday night on board the boat while she was in the vicinity of Friar's Point, Miss., by an unknown deck hand whom he had brutally assaulted. The murderer escaped.

A Valuable Gift to Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 18.—The will of the late Professor Elias Loomis bequeaths the bulk of the estate, which is valued at from $250,000 to $300,000 to Yale university, to be known as the "Loomis fund." This is the second largest gift ever made to Yale.

Fatal Explosion of Gas.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 18.—Alfred Crow and John Toocs were fatally, and John Murphy and William Calvin seriously injured by an explosion of gas in the Neilson shaft yesterday afternoon. The explosion was caused by the carelessness of Toocs.

A Fatal Freight Wreck.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 18.—A local freight train on the Auburn branch of the New York Central, ran into two freight cars on a dead side track at Brighton last night. The engine and four cars were wrecked, and Engineer MacGregor was killed. No one else was injured. The indications are that the engineer and fireman were asleep when they approached the switch.

The Next Congress.

Some Lively Times Expected From the Start

BETWEEN THE TWO PARTIES.

Representative Bynum interviewed on the subject—Captain Armes will sue General Schuyler—Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Representative Bynum, of Indiana, in an interview about the work of congress, said:

"I think that there will be a lively time from the start. We have a lot to worry the Republicans about and we will very apt to make it interesting for them. I do not think they will do anything with the tariff."

"How about the rules?"

"They cannot change the rules so as to avoid the constitutional provision that a majority of all the votes shall be necessary to constitute a quorum, and with but one, or at least two more than a quorum, all told, they cannot hope to have enough members present at any time to carry through any radical measure. Of course we shall not interfere with the organization of the house, but they cannot do anything that our party is determined they shall not do."

Program of the American Congress.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—W. E. Curtis has returned from Bar Harbor, where he went to get Secretary Blaine's approval of the congress of American nations. Mr. Blaine, he says, is looking better than he has seen him in many years. He is not as dexterous as he was, but his color is healthy and his eyes bright. He is active and in the best of spirits. Mr. Blaine will be in Washington on the 29th of this month.

The American delegates to the congress of nations will hold a meeting here on the 1st of October, and on the 2d the congress will convene.

Telephone Bell's Great Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Regarding the renewed activity of the Drawbaugh telephone people it is said the agitation is really a scheme of the Bell company to extend its monopoly for seventeen years. The Bell patents expire in 1893. If it be proven that Drawbaugh was the real inventor he will be granted a patent for seventeen years. The Bell people, it is claimed, have secured a controlling interest in the Drawbaugh investment and are themselves about to establish his right to a patent which will enable them to keep other inventors out until 1910.

Captain Armes Mad.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Capt. Armes threatens to bring suit against Gen. Schuyler, who is acting secretary of the mint, issued the order convening the board to examine into his mental state.

Director of the Mint.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—It is believed that Edward J. Leech, the competitor of the mint director, will be a rival of director of the mint, to succeed Mr. Kimball.

SAVED BY DARKNESS.

A Mob Attempts to Get Possession of the Nicely Brothers.

SOMERSET, Pa., Sept. 18.—The startling features of the Nicely boys' escape, the shooting of Deputy Sheriff McMillen and the subsequent capture of the desperadoes become more sensational every hour. The town was aroused at midnight last night by an attempt to rescue the Nicelys, but a heavy guard being around the jail a dozen or so shots caused the rescuers to disappear in the darkness.

The arsenal of nearly a dozen revolvers and several hundred rounds of ammunition found in the jail and on the prisoners continues to be the subject of great wonder. The revolvers are all new, apparently just out of the gun store, and were of approved Smith & Wesson patent. This morning a squad of blacksmiths visited the jail and chained some six or eight of the most dangerous inmates to the floor.

It has just been learned that the rain last night prevented an attempt at lynching of the Nicelys. It seems that several hundred farmers organized and marched upon the jail for the purpose of taking out the Nicelys and a number of other desperadoes, including Lehr, of Pittsburg, and stringing them up. The extreme darkness of the night and a heavy rain tended to disperse the mob.

It is extremely hard to say what will develop within the next twenty-four hours. Much will depend upon the condition of Deputy Sheriff McMillen. He now lies very badly wounded, and should he die it will go hard with the prisoners.

An Open Fauillet Costs $13,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—An open faucet in the building at 81 Grand street flooded the premises Monday night and damaged the stock of Le Maitre & Company, clothing dealers, who occupied the lower portion of the structure to the extent of $10,000. The stock of Alley & Rosenberg, dealers in ladies' cloaks on the second floor, was also damaged to the amount of $3,000.

A Fatal Freight Wreck.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 18.—A local freight train on the Auburn branch of the New York Central, ran into two freight cars on a dead side track at Brighton last night. The engine and four cars were wrecked, and Engineer MacGregor was killed. No one else was injured. The indications are that the engineer and fireman were asleep when they approached the switch.

The Coal Syndicate.

PRIRRISBURG, Sept. 18.—Negotiations for the sale of the large interests of the Monongahela river coal operators to an eastern syndicate are progressing very satisfactorily, and it is pretty generally believed among the coal men that it will be consummated by Jan. 1. The larger operators will take stock in the proposed company. It is the intention, if possible, for the operators to control a majority of the stock and manage the affairs of the new company.

Forest Fires in Maine.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 18.—Forest fires are reported in the Dead river region around Chain lake. Lumbermen of this city report their tracts free from fire. It is said that timber owned by M. G. Shaw, of Bath, is burning.

GROWING MONOTONOUS.

Another Day and Still No Progress in Getting a Cronin Jury.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—When court opened in the Cronin case, Judge Longenecker began the examination of the four jurors, Culver, Pearson, Lovander and Schirling, tendered by the defense. Schirling was excused on general principles by the court. The state's attorney then began examining the men. Charles Baader had an opinion and was excused, and Charles Tage was accepted temporarily.

There were plenty of jurors on hand. There was the special venire of twenty-five, who were summoned for 10 o'clock, and twenty-four jurors from the regular panel of Judge Clifford's court.

Yesterday was a disastrous day for the state in the Cronin trial. The examination of the jurors of the regular September panel showed Attorney Forrest's motive in demanding that they be summoned as jurors. Two of them knew so little of the English language that they were excused on general principles. Others knew Coughlin or Sullivan, and still had no opinion as to their guilt or innocence.

Eight peremptory challenges were used by the state in order to oust these mysterious jurors from the box. The exercise of this right piled the state's peremptories up to thirty-six. The defense lost but one peremptory, making fifty-seven in all. The two men who were held for the night with Culver and Pearson are John Hall and J. W. C. Clarke.

The police deny that Cooney "the Fox," who is wanted in connection with the murder of Dr. Cronin, was arrested on Wednesday last at St. Paul, and secretly held at a police station in Chicago. They claim that they know nothing whatever of the present whereabouts of the much wanted man.

An evening paper says a letter carrier claims to have seen Le Caron, the British spy, in the post office here yesterday. The letter carrier was well acquainted with him when he was in Chicago.

NO BRITISH BEER.

The Story of an Organized English Syndicate Denied.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—There are two elements of error in the story telegraphed from the west as to the formation of the American brewery syndicate," says Ismael Antemayer. "In the first place there is no such thing as an English syndicate to combat the recent operation in breweries, which have been erroneously attributed to an English syndicate, are merely a rearrangement of various business operations in form of separate stock companies. They are quite independent of each other.

"They are just as much American as ever, so far as the management of the business is concerned, because the present owners are retained to manage the business, and the present owners are among stockholders; then as to the union of the St. Louis breweries, which has been referred to, that is in no sense a National movement. As to the alleged proposition to form a gigantic stock company with a capital of $100,000,000 to buy up every brewery in this country, no such plan is practicable. There has been some talk of it, but nothing approaching an agreement. The amount of capital invested in beer business and the great number of interests involved, make it highly improbable, if not impossible, to consolidate the whole business into one company."

At Deer Park.

DEER PARK, Md., Sept. 18.—Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson is now with the president. He came from Chicago on the morning train with Hon. W. E. Mason, who expects to call when Gen. Clarkson's interview is finished. Gen. Clarkson's object in calling was to submit the report

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 18, 1889.

The approaching election in Ohio will likely convince Foraker that this is Democratic year in the Buckeye State.

The Cincinnati Post thinks "Kentucky is to be congratulated on having such a Governor as General Buckner." The Post seems to know a good man and an honest, public-spirited official when it sees one.

SECRETARY NOBLE is being roundly abused for forcing Tanner out of the Pension Office. The Portsmouth Blade calls him "a superannuated goat," and Governor Foraker referred to him in a speech a few days ago as "an obscure member of the Cabinet." Such ranting abuse will not hurt Noble.

SHORT work should be made of the ringleaders of the warring factions in Harlan County, if the State troops succeed in running them down. These outlaws have brought disgrace enough on Kentucky, and Governor Buckner should keep the troops in Harlan until the people of that section are taught to respect and obey the laws.

A Card From the Police.

Editor Bulletin: N. Burger is a card in yesterday's issue charges that "some of the Deputy Marshals, instead of doing their duty, spend the night sleeping in factories or walking the streets with women of loose character."

We are members of the police force and we demand that Mr. Burger be more specific in his charges, and give the names of the Deputy guilty of such conduct.

Fortune Follows a Fresno, Cal., Disaster.

Bernard Heringh, a well-known broker on Pine street, between Montgomery and Sansom, is the father of a young man who will hereafter speak praise concerning the Louisiana State Lottery. A few days before the recent conflagration at Fresno he bought the one-twentieth part of No. 42,758, for which he paid $1. His ticket No. 42,758 had drawn the first capital prize of $300,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery, of which he was entitled to $15,000.—San Francisco (Cal.) Call, August 8th.

The Turf, Field and Farm

Only twenty-three trotters have records of 2:15 or better, while thirty-six pacers have stopped the watch better than 2:15.

Hook & Clay, of Paris, have sold to C. Miller, of Cincinnati, the three-year-old gray filly, Abbey V., by Aberdeen, for $7,000.

A young farmer of Woodford County claims that rye weeds make an excellent winter food for sheep. He is now mowing and housing the weeds on his place for use the coming winter.

Seven three-year-olds have obtained a mark of 2:30 or better in Kentucky thus far this year. They are Don Pizarro 2:14½, Bonnie Wilmore 2:27½, Nancy Hanks 2:24½, Angelina 2:28, Glenview Belle 2:20½, New York Central 2:28½, and Mattie H. 2:25½.

Says the Hickman Courier: "Estimating the State's product of tobacco last year at an average value of five cents per pound, it amounted to the colossal sum of $14,116,576 05; the same of the wheat at an average of 70c per bushel, amounted to $7,193,064.30; the corn at an average of 24c per bushel amounted to $12,876,286.50, and the oats at an average of 24c per bushel amounted to $935,010.75—the four products amounting to $35,121,047.60. Four crops bringing over $35,000,000 in one year exhibits a very satisfactory condition of affairs in this State as regards its agricultural resources, and yet there are acres on acres untilled and a waste."

Ernie White Writes More About That Trip.

IQUIQUE, CHILI, SOUTH AMERICA. [August 14, 1889.]

My Dear Pat: May 23—Nothing much today. I have o'er on plaiting rope all day, and Lee has been painting. We're now studying the compass, so we can take the wheel and steer the ship.

May 24—Fine day. We are now in the trade winds. This morning I was walking on the guards when I slipped and came near falling into the water. The men said to me and said, if you fall again I would have thrown the grime into your face. To day is Friday, stations Xmas, for we got our whole of marmalade and sugar for the coming week.

May 25—Fineday. Heavy wind. Saw hundreds of flying fish to-day, and two different triplets from what we have seen—Mother Carey's chicken and boatswain. After work was over we had a great time with the sailors showing us some of their tricks, and we showed them what we knew. Eat the last of our marmalade for supper. Had a feast while it lasted.

May 26—Good wind. Had something what is considered a luxury—soft tack, sea name for light bread—one-half a pound. We see plenty of birds and flying fish every day while we are in the tropics.

May 27—Nothing much to-day. Found some flying fish this morning that flew on board last night.

May 28—Has been the hottest day I ever witnessed in my life. We passed under the sun. Oh my, how hot! Saw a shoal of porpoises. They did not stay in sight long.

May 29—Very calm and hot. We are south of the sun and near the equator. We saw some sea turtles six feet across the back. Also saw some porpoises, tried to harpoon them but we were too late with the harpoon.

May 30—Another calm day. If the wind stays this way we will never get any place, for there is not a breath of air stirring, and we are in the tropics.

May 31—A little wind blowing to-day. Caught two big fish. I went afloat and saw them my eyes opened. They were over twelve feet long and had a mouth like an alligator—big enough to swallow a man. I asked the sailors what they called them, and one said man-eater; the other said sharks. Lee has the job of one of the sharks, and now have the job of one of the alligators. We are now in the doldrums, where the N. E. and S. E. trade winds meet. Plenty of work to do now, as the wind changes several times in course of an hour. If the wind should get in front of the sails she is liable to loose her masts and have us tarry shifting sails.

June 1—Calm day. No wind to speak of. Have not traveled over twenty miles in the last fifteen hours. We are now at a dead stand-still. Caught two sharks to-day.

June 2—Went up Central America and Panama, and are now at the northern part of South America with no wind. Did not go one-half mile from 4 o'clock this morning until 7 this evening. Caught another shark this morning; also a small fish that none of the sailors knew anything about. It had a horn two inches long on top of its back and small ones all over it. Had teeth like a rat. Great fun to see it bite at anything put near it.

June 3—Caught a four wind at 8 o'clock last night. Plenty of calm. Came down in a shower, still raining this morning, but little wind. Almost at a dead stand-still. The boys caught a some bandits this morning and we had a pretty fair dinner.

June 4—Nice bright day. Going about three knots per hour. Bounced a few feet last night. Caught some fish in those for supper, and we are getting pretty tired of them.

June 5—Rained hard all night and up to 10 o'clock this morning. Had a squall. Sea very rough ever since. Saw some black fish. They are nearly as large as a whale.

June 6—Dangerous storm. Work for your lives. All hands on deck—captain, cook and all. One side of vessel dipping water all day. Looks as though the ship would turn over, and we are fifteen hundred miles from land.

June 7—Fine day after the storm. Fair wind, going direct to my camp, and the sea will be smooth again as we are tired of these.

June 8—The wind has changed. Going seven miles per hour, but out of every five travel we go one towards our destination. Are now at the equator. To be continued next week.

THE ONE PRICE SYSTEM

Ever since the beginning of MINER'S SHOE STORE, over fifty years ago, the One Price principle has been strictly adhered to. It is one of the bright features of our business. That it is the fairest, squarest and most satisfactory in all respects, every buyer will admit.

Another thing in this connection: Where one price is the rule, of necessity it means the very lowest cash price; the two are inseparably connected. Think this over and see if the statement is not correct. As a measure of good faith, we mark everything in plain figures, that "He who runs may read."

Echoes of the Strike.

A Few Slight Disturbances Take Place in London,

BUT NOTHING SERIOUS OCCURS.

The Dock Men Nearly All Back to Work and No Further Trouble Feared—Jack the Ripper Writes Another Letter. Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The advice of the leaders of the strike to the dock laborers to observe all the provisions of the agreement under which they returned to work, appears to have been effectual. Early in the morning the men appeared at the docks and generally went to work peaceably with the "blacklegs." Very few men assembled outside the docks, and they were quiet.

There were, however, some cases of disturbance. The strikers and "blacklegs" on the southwest India dock became involved in a dispute, and the men who had been on a strike drove the "blacklegs" out of the dock. The police interfered and quelled the disturbance. The strikers then withdrew and the "blacklegs" resumed work.

The troubles at some of the docks between the regular workmen and the "blacklegs" are not regarded as of serious import. They are only such minor disturbances as could not but be looked for as the aftermath of such a gigantic upheaval as the recent strike. They are the mutterings that follow, not those that precede a storm. It would be well nigh impossible to bring about either a lockout or another general strike, just at present. Both sides are too eager for a period of recuperation to indulge in an immediate renewal of the great struggle.

What the more remote future has in store, of course, cannot be predicted. Many friends of the laboring classes fear that they will be so elated by the present victory that they will overreach themselves and long by some still bolder and less justifiable move than the late strike, and will thus lose the prestige conferred by the success attending the dock strike. On the other hand, great confidence is expressed in the good sense of Burns and his fellow-leaders, who are counted on not to lose their heads because of their brilliant and surprising achievement.

The friends of the dock companies having put forth various protests to the effect that the companies, not having earned even average profits on capital before the strike, must now be put in danger of bankruptcy on account of the increased pay of the laborers. The leaders of the strike have issued a reply to such statements, in which they deny the correctness of the figures given. They claim that it is only by a trick of bookkeeping that the profits of the companies are made to appear small and inadequate. In reality the profits are enormous, but this fact it is alleged, is carefully covered up by an intricate system of accounts, and by a division of functions, whereby the owners of the docks debit themselves with rental charges large enough to cut up nearly all the earnings available for dividends.

Thus the bulk of the earnings go to royalties, and only an apparently small proportion to profits, though the same men get both, and it is a matter of indifference to them whether they get more or less of one than the other. The leaders claim, therefore, that the statements of threatened bankruptcy are deceptive. They also go farther and deny the claim made by certain pessimistic commentators in the London press that the effect of increasing the expenses of the companies will be to force an advance of rates charged ship owners, and therefore to drive commerce from London to other parts. They express the conviction, on the contrary, that the increase of expenses will result in merely a reduction of the receipts of the companies and cannot be saddled upon the company's customers. In support of this argument Burns and Hyneman refer to such an eminent authority along the orthodox economists as Ricardo, who laid down the law that charges against rent could not be shifted.

Jack the Ripper Heard From.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Central News is in receipt of a letter signed Jack the Ripper, wherein the writer promises to commit another murder in about a week. The handwriting of the note is the same as that of the letters and postal cards received by the Central News some time ago, in which the Ripper declared his intention to pursue his course until he should reach the number of fifteen victims, and there is no doubt of the letter's authenticity.

Spain Has Something to Do.

MADRID, Sept. 18.—The natives of Riff, on the Morocco coast, have ransacked a Spanish vessel and imprisoned the captain, four sailors and a passenger. A Spanish warship has been sent to the spot.

Quarter of a Million Dollar Fire.

Bishop of Oxford Dead.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Right Rev. John Mackarius, lately bishop of Oxford, is dead. He was born Dec. 3, 1820, and was a brother-in-law of Lord Chief Justice Coleridge.

The Work of Train Wreckers.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 18.—The freight train wreck on the Central road near Hancock, last night, was one of the worst smash-ups ever seen in Georgia. It was evidently the work of a train-wrecker. Three men—Engineer John Jordan, Fireman Bob Nathan and Brake-R. M. Parker—were killed. The soldiers of Fort McPherson barracks did good work in the search for the bodies. A passenger train was due at the point where the accident occurred, twenty minutes late.

A MISSING VESSEL.

A Steam Yacht With Nine People on Board Believed to Be Lost. CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 18.—The steam yacht Leo left Black river, Sunday noon about 4 o'clock, presumably for this port and nothing has been seen or heard of her since. A few hours after leaving the harbor a storm accompanied by heavy winds broke over the lake and it is feared that she was either unable to weather the gale or made any port and went to the bottom. She had nine people on board, and according to telegrams received by the Western Union company in this city, the excitement in Lorain and vicinity is high.

According to the "blue book," issued by the treasury department, the Leo is a small craft of about seventeen tons burden, and is owned by John Tute, of Black river. Telegraphs have been sent to all Lake Erie ports, but up to the present time nothing that would throw the slightest light on her whereabouts had been received.

The names of the supposed victims are: John B. Tute, a well known merchant, formerly of Cleveland; T. D. Lawler, S. P. Ritter, Benjamin Kline, S. D. Knight, D. A. Lawler, Capt. Samuel Por; Fred. Fellow, an engineer, recently from Detroit.

SUBJECT FOR LYNCHERS.

A Terrible Story of Cruelty and Suffering Comes From New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 18.—Louise Schoemaker, a pretty blonde girl of 15, disappeared from her parents' residence over a year ago, and no trace of her could be found until yesterday, when Sergt. Kenny, hearing that a white girl was kept prisoner in the rear of a barber shop on Felicite street, kept by Gus Reed, a negro, went to the place and broke open the door which was locked. As he entered the rear door he saw the frail form of Miss Schoemaker, naked except for a tattered undergarment. Her face was pale as death, and her eyes shown with insane fear as she rushed toward the sergeant, and clinging frantically to him, cried piteously "Save me, save me."

Kenny, with difficulty, persuaded her that she was now in friendly hands, and the half-crazy girl finally became quiet. Assistance was summoned, clothing procured, and the girl properly cared for. She states that Reed had kept her locked up for over a year, subjecting her to constant outrages. Reed was soon arrested and locked up. The girl is much emaciated and apparently half starved.

Wife Poisoner Dies in Jail.

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 18.—Lorenz Krug, the Chicago wife poisoner, died in jail here yesterday of consumption. He was serving an eighteen years' sentence for poisoning his third wife. It is thought he poisoned his former wives also. He died without making a confession.
